

Ideation

My idea for a project is a local language translator website. I want to make this website because the current mainstream translator website, google translate, don't have the support to translate local language. I am from Indonesia, and Indonesia is very rich with local language that is unique to that region. So I hope this website can help introduce Indonesian local language and help those who want to learn them.

This website will have features similar to google translate where the user can input the word that they want to translate, and then the result will pop up. In the future, I want to expand the vocabulary that this website can handle. So not only that it can translate local Indonesian language, but other local language from different country.

After a bit of quick research, I found a similar website that translate local language, but it can only translate from any local language to Bahasa Indonesia.
